

TWO NEW PARTIES TO JOIN CITY RACE

MacLaughlin's Manager and Service Men's Leader Will Pre-empt Names

LANE SCOFFS AT DIRECTOR

Talk of new parties for the November election is a conspicuous feature of the political situation pending the outcome of the official count of the primary vote.

Pre-emption papers for the new party to be headed by Director of Supplies MacLaughlin as the candidate for Mayor, are expected to be filed with the secretary of the commonwealth today. The MacLaughlin campaign committee may be announced at the same time, according to J. Frederick Jenkins, campaign manager for the director. Captain Homer H. Hacker, who was chairman of the Patterson service men's committee, also announced that the service men's ticket for the November election would be named today. The "soldier candidate" for Mayor, said Mr. Hacker, would run under a new party title.

Fight for Magistrates

Politicians believe that some of the plans for new parties are based on the desire to win the three minority magistracies who are to be elected in the November election. Seven are to be chosen, four by the majority and three by the minority party. As the situation stands now, the Democratic candidates, even though they polled a negligible vote, would get the three minority places.

Politicians said the opportunity to get these places by having a new party which could poll more votes than the Democratic party is too good to be overlooked.

Takes Director Lightly

When the official count finally proclaims Congressman Moore as the Republican nominee for Mayor the Vares and Moore new party tickets could be withdrawn. Senator Vares has announced that he will abide by the result of the official count. And David H. Lane said yesterday at the shore that the Vares faction would "elect Moore with a whoop."

Find Body of Man in River

DEATHS OF A DAY

PREACHER DIES IN CHURCH

John A. Duncan is Fatally Stricken While Attending Services

John A. Duncan, secretary of the Hide and Leather Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Pennsylvania, and a local preacher of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died suddenly yesterday, while sitting in his pew in St. Matthew's Church, Fifty-third and Chestnut streets. Death was caused by heart disease. He was seventy-one years old. Apparently in excellent health, Mr. Duncan walked from his home, 257 South Fifty-first street, to the church. The choir and congregation had just finished singing the first hymn, "How Sweet the Name of Jesus Sounds in a Believer's Ear," in which the local preacher joined heartily, when he collapsed in the pew.

While the stricken man was being carried to an adjoining room, considerable excitement prevailed among the congregation, which was still by the choirmaster singing in a low tone "Nearer, My God, to Thee," followed immediately with a fervent prayer by the pastor, the Rev. H. E. Wahley, for the recovery of the aged church worker. Just as the prayer was finished one of the ushers informed the pastor that Mr. Duncan had passed away.

CASE TO BE HEARD TODAY

Alleged election frauds in Delaware county will be told in a petition to the court at Media today, relative to the vote cast in Tincicum township at last Tuesday's primary.

It is alleged by fifty residents of the township that 140 men were brought in trucks from Hog Island and voted, irrespective of the fact that they were not residents, had not registered and had paid no taxes. The procuring of the 140 illegal votes is declared to have been the work of a McClure leader, in Tincicum township.

Ballot-boxes from Chester and the districts in Delaware county where votes were cast at the last primary election are being brought to the courthouse in Media under orders from Judge William B. Broomall, by judge of election and minority inspectors of election. The court ordered all ballot-boxes brought into court on Saturday.

William T. Ramsey, supported by McClure, according to the unofficial count, won over Mayor W. S. McDowell for mayor of Chester by seventy-nine votes. Mr. Ramsey's friends believe, however, that the official vote will show that he has been elected by a safe majority. Ramsey's friends say he has won by 134 majority.

The official count of the Chester county primary vote, completed yesterday, shows that the Byre slate has been cracked. Independent Republicans having succeeded in nominating their men for two important offices—district attorney and clerk of the court. The remainder of the Byre slate has managed to pull through by a close vote, but will be opposed in the general election, plans already being under way to nominate a soldier ticket.
